

Deliver a Superior Candidate Experience

Employer branding made simple.

Attract, delight, and hire the right kind of candidates with a compelling career site experience with Jobvite Brand. With an advanced career site framework and professional web development services, we help you showcase your brand to potential candidates on both desktops and mobile devices.

Convey an authentic message.

Quality talent visit your career site to explore whether your company is the one that they want to work for, so it's important to be authentic and tell your brand story clearly. Jobvite Brand lets you customize your career site to best convey who you are, what you stand for, and your company culture using photos, videos, text, and more.

Motivate candidates to apply.

Jobvite Brand has dedicated career pages to attract target talent—such as college or diversity candidates—and make it easy for them to apply on any mobile device in just a few clicks, so that you can reduce your candidate abandonment rate and successfully bring them across the finish line.

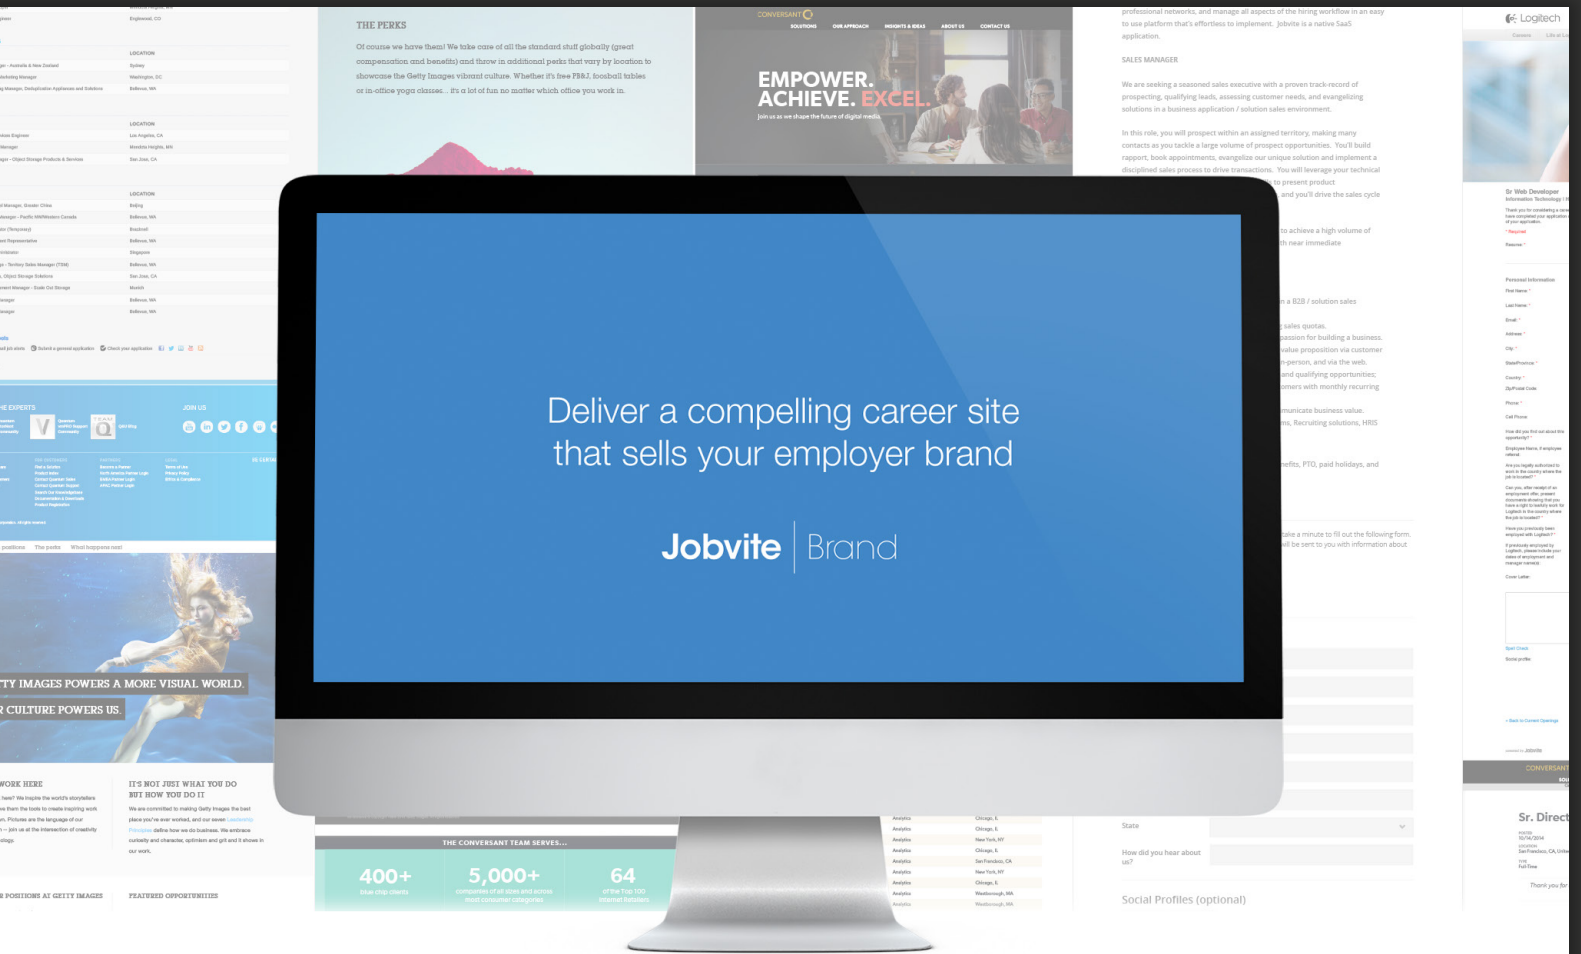

Hassle-free branded career sites.

Jobvite web development experts use your design and messaging to create fully functional desktop, mobile, and internal career sites—so that you can focus on more strategic tasks. We also host your career sites in a secure environment, which means less stress on you and your internal IT team.

Keep your brand fresh.

Our professional services team offers ongoing career site and content updates to help you keep your ever-evolving brand and recruiting strategy current. We will also provide guidance on best practices gleaned from our work with thousands of customers.
