“Previously, there was no way for us to know how many open positions we had around the world. This was one of our biggest issues — we couldn't even guess and give a ballpark number to our CEO. Jobvite completely solved that problem for us. Now we can see all the jobs locally and globally which helps us with internal mobility.”

“The ability to house all our recruiting efforts on one platform has not only made our work easier, it's also simplified our application process and increased our applicant pool by 40 percent.”
